amongst other questions he has addressed. to the Chinese householders on subjects included within the scope of his commission, ing to pay more than they at present do is at present under the consideration of a few of for water if a larger supply were afforded. There is every reason to believe that those to whom the question has been addressed will very generally reply to ithin the affirmative. In addition to the water rate, they have at present to pay coolies for carrying the water | Vice-Admiral Willes also paid a visit to Admiral from the hydrants, and of late, we hear, they have in some cases been compelled to purchase water itself from water boats. If by a moderate increase in the rate they could obtain an adequate supply available without the grave. inconvenience attending the present system it would be well worth their while to assent terror and dismay those haunted by the Yellow Government any moral right to impose an Funuel line may breathe more freely." increase in the rate? present works have paid for themselves several times over, so that the income from this source now may be looked on at clear profit to the revenue. The Tytam Low Level project is estimated to cost botween $600,000 and the Colony has a surplus of say half-a-million dollars. If it should be considered inadvisable to appropriate the whole of this to water supply a loan of say $350,000 might readily be negotiated in the Colony. The present rate would be sufficient to 'pay interest . on this at the rate of eight per cent, and as the annual excess of revenue over expenditure is now upwards of $100,000 a year the loan itself might very soon be wiped off. The rate itself must be looked upon as an increasing item of revenue, since the number of houses in the colony is increasing, as is no objection in principle to the raising of a loan for such a purpose; on the contrary, it strikes as as the most equitable way of distributing the cost of the improvefor it is only fair that succeeding ratepayers, who will enjoy the full measure of Another alternative presents itself. The Government has for years, in the face of an ever increasing demand for water, remained inactive. How much longer this may continue, if the matter be left in the hands of the Government, it is impossible to say. If, on the other hand, a public company were granted the privilege of supplying the town with water, can there be any doubt United States Government would refund to the that the demand would soon be met? The figures we have given above would not, it is at Washington, yet the money has been so long The large Edition contains ONE THOUSAND true, show a very handsome return on the coming as to deprive the gift, or restitution, of a capital to be invested, but it would be for in every Mercantile Office in the Far. It is notorious that whatever the United States ship Wyoming, or to their works a Government undertakes it pays for at a higher rate than private individuals or companies could have them executed at. At the time of its promulgation the Low Love Press Office, where it is published, or to the Project was objected to on the ground of its great expense, and it has yet to be demonstrated that a sufficient supply could not be obtained by a smaller outlay.

In any case, however, the principle cannot be too strongly insisted on that the Government ought not to look upon the water supply as a source of revenue. The only ground on which the formation of a Waterworks Company could be advocated is that it would provide a supply of water on more economical terms than the Govern- quest was adjourned in order that evidence might He gave them some cash to divide among themment. Very amusing traits of Chinese character crop up occasionally in the Peking Garette. A certain officer, we read in a recout memorial, having created a favourable impression in the mind of a former Governor of Cho-klang, was offered the charge of a lokin collectorate; but he declined it firmly, on the ground that the appointment was not one adapted to men of a scholarly turn of mind. Subsequently this fastidious gentleman was nominated overseer of the Board for the construction of mechanical appliances, and this he accepted, though under protest, in view of the pressing necessity, remarking, however, even in this case, that "the work verged on the Galway, has been sentenced to six months' i common !" He has since gained great credit at Peking for the improvements he has introduced in the arms employed by the provincial soldiery. torpedosa, and other munitions of war.-N. C. Daily News.

A remarkable instance of wifely devotion is reported from the neighbourhood of Tientsin. There were an elderly couple, and the basband was sick past hope of recovery. The wife tended him with the most parfect self-forgetfulness, not having loosed her girdle or closed her eyes-to more than a month. At last, seeing that her busband must die, and that shortly, she reasoned thus with hersoif. "I have no children to live for, and am already old; when my husband finds himself in Hades, he will have no one to take care of him as he has at present, and may be exment amongst those who are to profit by it, posed to dangers from the fox-demons of the nother world. It is better, then, that I should dis before my lord, so as to receive him on his scrival and protect him." Having made up her the benefit to be derived from it, should bear mind, she went into the adjoining room, without apprising the nick man of her benevolent intentions, took opium, and died. Her husband asked after her, but was put off with excuses; in a very short time, however, he died too, and, we may hope, experienced a pleasant surprise at finding his faithful spouse ready to welcome him in the other world. - N. Among the multitudinous religious and mystical societies of China, there is none more worthy of tolerance than the Tsai-li Huei, or Fellowship of Reason. The tenets of this sectare peculiar, but respectable: The members are strict abstainers from wine, opium, and tobacco they are perfectly chaste; they never gamble ther are in every sonse moral, law-abiding, loyal subjects. Their peculiarities consist principally in wearing white clothes on all religious occasions, indulging a little in astrology, and worshipping the stars, the scorpion, the lizard, the hedgehog, and the snake. Perhaps "wership" is too strong a word to apply to the reverence in which these objects are held : but they are at any rate invested with a quasi-sacred character. Lately, we notice by the Shon Pao, the Superior of the sect died at Tientsin. THE KAIPING COAL MINES.

The N. C. Daily News says :- The Shon Pa keeps the ball rolling with regard to the K'aiping mines. On Tuesday it published another article on the great advantage that would accrue to China were she independent of other nations for her supply of coal, and its arguments were pungent. White ants are used as food, but being put in a way calculated to appeal to the amouropm of the governing classes. It pointed out that were China wilfulty to deprive berself of participation in the benefits of the underground riches she possesses, for the take of some foolish ld-world superstition, she would lose face in the aves of other nations, and urged the explaination the mineral resources of the country on seconomic grounds with much estateness and This article coming on the top of the ormer one ought to have a good effect. only discouraging feature in the whole business is that the fengishui argument is only put for ward as a pretext, the real motive of the Conser's action being a wish on the part of the retrogressive party to undermine the power of the Viceroy In a subsequent issue the Daily News has the following paragraph :-

The last report about the Kai-ping mines to the effect that the agitation may after al reduce itself to a question of douceur. extension is a question of importance. The limit is thought not to have been reached, but it is probable that natural disadvantages will prevent such an extension as would seriously affect India. The poppy crops of the season of 1881 have been seriously damaged in the Shirar districts, and to a less extent in those of Ispahan.

A correspondent at Athens says that for a generation past such severe weather as has recently bean experienced has never been known there. "While we hear," he says, "of middle and western Europe enjoying a winter of unusual mildness, we have been experiencing one of extraordinary rigour. In the streets of the village of Cephissia, at the foot of Pentelikon, only a few miles from Athens, the snow has been lying for days six feet deep. Even in Athens itself the streets have been blocked for three successive days with three feet of snow on the sold by Chemists and Medicine Vendors throughout ground.
